1. Your excuse is documented (hospital bill, police report, funeral bulletin, etc),
AND
2. You inform Dr. Hancock immediately, AND

If your absence does not meet these requirements, it is strongly suggested that you learn the covered material from a classmate or other resource, as you are responsible for learning all material covered in class.

No assignments will be accepted after 1:01 the day after they are due unless under extreme circumstances and approved by Dr. Hancock.

Academic Honor Code:

As students at George Washington University, you are expected to uphold the Code of Academic Integrity (<http://www.gwu.edu/~ntegrity/code.html#definition>). Academic dishonesty is defined as cheating of any kind, including misrepresenting one's own work, taking credit for the work of others without crediting them and without appropriate authorization, and the fabrication of information. Reported infractions will be discussed privately with the student(s). If it is determined that someone has violated the Academic Honor Code, that person(s) will earn 0 points for that assignment, or possibly receive a failing grade for the course. Violations will be reported to the University Judicial Officer in the Office of Academic Integrity.

Americans with Disabilities Act:

Students with disabilities needing academic accommodation should: (1) register with and provide documentation to the Student Disability Resource Center; (2) bring a letter to the instructor indicating the need for accommodation and what type. This should be done during the first week of class.
